

American Embassy School Class of 2017

May 2017

CONGRATULATIONS AES CLASS OF 2017

The AIS/AES Alumni Association congratulates each of you on your upcoming graduation from the American Embassy School, New Delhi.

As you may know, the American Embassy School (originally named the American School, then the American International School) was founded in 1952. In the beginning, there were 12 students in one room of the Old Taj Barracks, which originally housed American officers recovering from battle wounds or on R&R during World War II. Over time, the school moved to the current campus designed by the famous architect Joseph Stein, more buildings were added and class sizes increased. One thing stayed the same, however. The AS/AIS/AES students and faculty became “family” and our friendships have lasted to this day.

Here we are, 65 years later. As you are about to leave AES and move onto your next adventures, we want you to know there is a tight-knit community of alumni from these past 64 years who welcome you to join our alumni association. The AIS/AES Alumni Association can help you stay in touch with one another; and you will be invited to “all-classes” reunions where you’ll rejoin your classmates, meet other alumni and forge new friendships. Our reunions are typically held every 5 years - the most recent in 2015 in Arlington, Virginia, where we adopted the theme of India Lives in All of Us, which is now our alumni association motto.

We hope you have time in the near future to check out our alumni website and also join us on Facebook. Our Facebook page is an offshoot of our website and is an informal forum where we welcome daily interaction with AIS/AES alumni, students, friends, faculty and parents. Please “like” our Facebook page to show your support and follow us on newsfeed!

Again, congratulations to you! Welcome to the AIS/AES Alumni Association!
